

Feel the Call of the Wild? Us Too.

The parks and natural areas in and around Greenville are home to some spectacular hiking trails. The area surrounding Greenville is quickly becoming popular for its hiking trails and the natural beauty that surrounds. Check out some of our favorite spots to enjoy the great outdoors in and around Greenville.

Paris Mountain State Park

Sulphur Springs

Greenville's Swamp Rabbit Trail spans a generous 22-miles along the beautiful Reedy River and is open for non-motorized recreation throughout Greenville. This trail is perfect for the avid biker, walker, runner, or sightseer.

There are plenty of ways to get your fix of nature while also getting fit! The Trail has a multitude of access points so you can completely customize your experience to fit your needs.

Table Rock State Park

Table Rock

The somewhat challenging 3.5-mile hike up to the top of Table Rock, gives this Pickens, SC State Park its name. Your destination is an unobstructed panoramic view of the Greenville region that reminds you just how beautiful the area is. There is nothing quite like a picnic on the summit surrounded by some of the most vast scenery you'll find in all the south.

Jones Gap State Park

Rainbow Falls

Jones Gap State Park is located about 25 miles from downtown Greenville, making it one of the farthest of these destinations from town. But this reasonable drive is well worth the effort as the park is home to Rainbow Falls, a stunning 100-foot waterfall that cascades into the granite depths below. The hiking trail to and from Rainbow falls is a difficult 5-mile round trip that features over 1,000 feet of elevation change and crosses several scenic bridges.

Lake Conestee Nature Park Loop

Lake Conestee Nature Preserve

Looking for something a little bit less challenging? Then The Lake Conestee Nature Park Loop is the right place for you. This family-friendly loop is about 2.2 miles of boardwalks and overlooks. Birdwatching is one of the most popular activities on the trail. Bugs are rampant during the summer, so be sure to bring some repellent. This trail is located just 7 miles from Greenville.

City of Greenville Parks and Trailways

Downtown Area

One of the best things about living in Greenville is that you don't even have to leave the city to experience some phenomenal hiking trails. The City of Greenville offers several trails that you can enjoy just a short trip from your home, including the Swamp Rabbit Trail, as well as trail networks in Falls Park and Cleveland Park near downtown.
